INDEX TO VOLUME 19 (2004)

Volume 19 Number 1 – February 2004

Editorial 2

NASEN/TES Academic Book Award 2003 3

Articles

Linet Arthur
Looking out for each other: children helping left-out children 5

Karen Harris and Peter Farrell
Educating children and young people with medical needs: effective provision and practice 13

Jannet A. Wright and Myra Kersner
Short-term projects: the Standards Fund and collaboration between speech and language therapists and teachers 19

Dawn Preece and Paul Timmins
Consulting with students: evaluating a mainstream inclusion centre 24

Mike Lambert
Conductive education: links with mainstream schools 31

Claire Hardman
Analysing the management of challenging behaviour in Romanian orphanages: looking for ways forward 38

Notes on contributors 45

REVIEWS 46

Volume 19 Number 2 – May 2004

Editorial 50

Articles

Kay Kinder and John Harland
The arts and social inclusion: what's the evidence? 52

Vassiliki Karkou and Judy Glasman
Arts, education and society: the role of the arts in promoting the emotional wellbeing and social inclusion of young people 57

James Wetz
Promoting inclusion in school through the arts: a case study 66

Maria Balshaw
Risking creativity: building the creative context 71

Sarah Pignéguy
Our Didcot: an inclusive arts project devised by a Learning Support Unit 77

Chris Cooper
'A struggle well worth having': the uses of theatre-in-education (TIE) for learning 81

Rachel Tranter and Nathalie Palin
Including the excluded: an art in itself 88

Notes on contributors 96

REVIEWS 97

Volume 19 Number 3 – August 2004

Editorial 102

Articles

John M. Hull
Teaching as a trans-world activity 103

Julian Stern
Marking time: using music to create inclusive religious education and inclusive schools 107

Julia Ipgrave
Including pupils' faith background in primary religious education 114

Jane Webster
Religious education for children with severe learning difficulties: constructing a framework, finding a medium, exploring a story 119

Maria Poyser
Healing trauma and spiritual growth: the relevance of religious education to emotionally and behaviourally disturbed children looked after by local authorities 125

Liz O'Brien
Connecting with RE: an approach to religious education for children with autism and/or severe and complex learning disabilities 132

Kieron Sheehy, Jonathan Rix, Melanie Nind and Katie Simmons
Perspectives on inclusive education: learning from each other 137

Nick Swarbrick, Glynnis Eastwood and Kris Tutton
Self-esteem and successful interaction as part of the forest school project 142

Notes on contributors 147

REVIEWS 148

Volume 19 Number 4 – November 2004

Editorial 154

Articles

Richard Rose and Michael Shevlin
Encouraging voices: listening to young people who have been marginalised 155

Louca-Mai Wilson
Towards equality: the voices of young disabled people in Disability Rights Commission research 162

Hannah Mortimer
Hearing children's voices in the early years 169

Julia Hayes
Visual annual reviews: how to include pupils with learning difficulties in their educational reviews 175

Tania Burchardt
Aiming high: the educational and occupational aspirations of young disabled people 181

Jackie Dearden
Resilience: a study of risk and protective factors from the perspective of young people with experience of local authority care 187

Geoff Lindsay
Pupil participation: the NASEN policy 194

Notes on contributors 196

REVIEWS 197

Index for 2004 200

© NASEN 2004